

House and Home

Everything Old is New Again

FRIDAY, 17 FEBRUARY 2006

You're sitting in your living room and even though you've moved your furniture around a dozen times, consulted every feng shui book ever published, something still doesn't feel right. Had enough? Time to call in an expert. Natasha Arora of Natasha Arora Interior Styling is just that expert. For roughly the price of a pair of designer jeans (and for a minimum of three hours, she charges by the hour after all), Natasha will come to your home to assess your redecorating needs, minimize your clutter and create the perfect living space, whether it's your bedroom, living room, office, or your entire house.

But wait, it gets better. With her innate sense of creativity, she'll not only redecorate and "energize" your living space to make it a better fit for you, but she'll do it in a day, with all your existing furniture and home accessories. No hauling of old couches down multiple flights of stairs, or selling vital organs to afford a new dining set. She says if she removes anything, it's the dust bunnies (and we say, those bunnies are all yours).

The only requirements on your part? According to Natasha it's "an open mind and a desire to live better in your environment". Her before and after pictures speak for themselves (you can find them online at <http://natashaarorastyling.com>).

Eat your heart out Nate Berkus.

Natasha Arora Interior Styling

<http://natashaarorastyling.com>

Email Natasha at natashaarorastyling@gmail.com to schedule a consultation.